Andrew Coleman has been the head coach of DULBC for 15 years. In this time Andrew has coached both novices and seniors to national championships, international accolades and seen athletes leave DULBC to achieve success domestically, internationally, and even in the Blues Boat races. Andrew has dedicated himself to furthering women's rowing in Ireland and this trophy has been named after him to recognise this dedication and the impact he has had on women's rowing in Trinity and beyond and the effect he has had on the lives of countless rowers.

It is hoped the Andrew Coleman Perpetual Cup will come to symbolise the standard of fierce competition which exists in women's rowing in Ireland and which is demonstrated each year at Trinity Regatta. Good luck to all clubs competing for this trophy at the upcoming regatta.
